The panelists were not asked to present formal papers at the symposium. Instead, one participant in each panel was asked to present extended remarks; the others were asked to respond directly to the principal presentation. All panelists were given the option of revising and expanding their symposium comments for publication as they saw fit. The Yale Law & Policy Review has refrained from substantive editing of the panelists’ remarks; each panelist’s comments were revised, however, to conform with Yale Law & Policy Review style for written proceedings. A few additional footnotes have been added and a glossary of key terms provided.

Finally, the editors wish to acknowledge with special thanks the law firms of Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld and Covington & Burling for their generous financial contribution to the symposium and the law firms of Arnold & Porter and Baker & McKenzie for their extensive financial and in-kind assistance to the publication of these proceedings.
