Contents

Essay

The Vulnerable Subject: Anchoring Equality in the Human Condition...Martha Albertson Fineman 1

Articles

Consenting Adults?: Why Women Who Submit to Supervisory Sexual Harassment Are Faring Better in Court than Those Who Say No...and Why They Shouldn’t...Kerri Lynn Stone 25

When Is a Battered Woman Not a Battered Woman? When She Fights Back.................................Leigh Goodmark 75

Not Quite Rights: How the Unwelcomeness Element in Sexual Harassment Law Undermines Title VII’s Transformative Potential.......................Grace S. Ho 131

Recent Publication: The Battle for Welfare Rights

Comment

Mandatory Minimums Making Minimal Difference: Ten Years of Sentencing Sex Offenders in South Africa ..................Kristina Scurry Baehr 213
CORRECTION

Our previous issue's Book Review\(^1\) stated that David L. Chambers's study, Accommodation and Satisfaction: Women and Men Lawyers and the Balance of Work and Family,\(^2\) did not include unmarried lawyers living with a significant other.\(^3\) In fact, the study did include unmarried lawyers cohabiting with a significant other.\(^4\)

---