

BOOK REVIEWS.

Owen's Law Quizzer, second edition, edited by Wilbur A. Owen, LL.M., of the Toledo, O., Bar. West Publishing Co. One volume, 613 pp., sheep.

The result accomplished by this work is to present to the student in logical order a discussion of the various subjects of the law, each arranged in the form of questions and answers.

The second edition is much more complete in its treatment of a number of subjects than the first, special sections in the present work being devoted to criminal procedure, damages, executors and administrators, insurance and the Statute of Frauds, subjects which received but incidental attention in the former editions.

Some standard work in every branch of law has been chosen by the author, the arrangement of which has been followed and citation thereto made; among these are: Clark's Contracts, Schouler's Wills, Norton's Bills and Notes, Brandt's Suretyship and Guaranty. Neither is the work a compendium of disconnected questions and answers, but each subject considered is a treatise presented in the form of consecutive questions and answers, leading the student step by step from one principle to another.

The work is remarkably comprehensive considering the limited size of the volume.

The following books have been received and will be reviewed later :

Outline Study of the Law, by Isaac Franklin Russell, D.C.L., LL.D. Baker, Voorhis & Co.

A Commercial Geography, by John N. Tilden, M.A., M.D., Thomas R. Shewell & Co.

Elements of Jurisprudence, by Thomas Erskine Holland, D.C.L. Oxford Uni. Press (Am. branch).

The Law of Bills, Notes and Checks, by Melville M. Bigelow. Little, Brown & Co.

American Bankrupt Reports (annotated). Mathew Bender, Albany.

Law of Bills and Notes, by Charles P. Norton. West Pub. Co.