ARTICLES

Prosecutorial Misuse of the Federal Conspiracy Statute in Election Law Cases
   Lance Cole and Ross Nabatoff .............................................................. 225

Miranda: Legitimate Response to Contingent Requirements of the Fifth Amendment
   David Huitema ........................................................................................ 261

First-Time Encounters: “Passing” Revisited and Demystification As a Critical Practice
   Robert Westley ........................................................................................ 297

BOOK REVIEWS

   Linda E. Fisher ....................................................................................... 351

Raised on Robbery, reviewing Bruce Ackerman & Anne Alstott, The Stakeholder Society (1999)
   James K. Galbraith ................................................................................. 387
NOTES

The Transition to Section 8 Housing: Will the Elderly Be Left Behind?
Kevin M. Cremin

Proposition 209: A New Civil Rights Revolution?
Richard Frankel

Reconsidering Educational Liability: Property-Owners as Litigants, Constructive Trusts as Remedy
Geoffrey Rapp

CASE NOTES

The Costs of Uniformity: Federal Foreign Policymaking, State Sovereignty, and the Massachusetts Burma Law
Lily Batchelder

A Political Process Argument for the Constitutionality of Student-Led, Student-Initiated Prayer
John P. Cronan

Copyright © 2000 by the Yale Law & Policy Review