THE YALE JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

Article Submissions

The Yale Journal of International Law is published twice each year, in the winter and summer, by students at Yale Law School. The Journal invites the submission of articles on topics of current interest relating to international law and policy. Book reviews, incident studies, and shorter comments on developments in the law are also welcomed. It is the aim of the Journal to provide a forum for the expression of the widest possible diversity of opinion. The editors are not responsible for the views expressed by contributors.

Manuscripts, subscription requests or inquiries, and all other correspondence should be addressed to:
